

IRAN-CHINA BELT & ROAD INITIATIVE

Presented by: Sakshi Shrivastava

ARGUMENT

Iran's Pact With China Is Bad News for the West

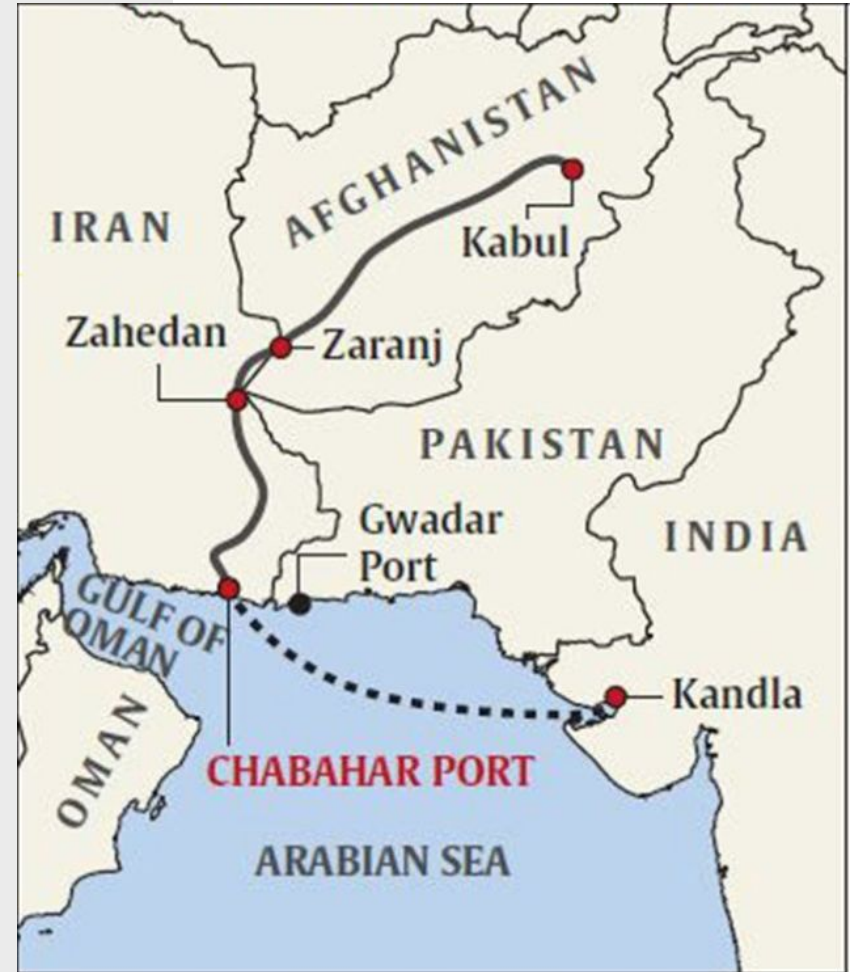

Tehran's new strategic partnership with Beijing will give the Chinese a strategic foothold and strengthen Iran's economy and regional clout.

BY ALAM SALEH, ZAKIYEH YAZDANSHENAS | AUGUST 9, 2020, 1:00 AM

Recently, Iran and China signed an economic and strategic agreement worth 400$ billion.

In 2016, India signed a deal with Iran and Afghanistan to develop the Chabahar port.

POLITICKLE by MANJUL

Iran to develop Chabahar rail link on its own, but says 'doors are open' for India to join

India is unable to develop the Chabahar-Zahedan rail link under the second phase of the project due to US sanctions. Iran says there's 'no limit' to its relations with New Delhi.

NAYANIMA BASU 15 July, 2020 10:15 am IST

China & Iran growing Partnership, Is India losing out here?

By Belt & Road News - July 18, 2020

Opinion

In Iran-China deal, Pakistan most interested in this clause — Delhi's alienation from Tehran

Want to know more about the proposed China-Iran deal? You can't. The CPEC, which lacks transparency and is secretive to the core, is its blueprint.

AYESHA SIDDIQA 6 August, 2020 9:03 am IST

One belt, one road – China's new Silk Road

String of Pearls: India and the Geopolitics of Chinese Foreign Policy

<https://www.e-ir.info/2015/07/26/string-of-pearls-india-and-the-geopolitics-of-chinese-foreign-policy/>

ASHAY ABBHI, JUL 26 2015

Some Questions to Consider

- Is India's drift towards US harming indian interests and india's commitment to multilateralism?
- At the start of the year, Dr S. Jaishankar (current foreign affairs minister) said at a gathering, "The Indian way would now be more decider and shaper than an abstainer". This is in direct contrast to the Nehru's Non-Alignment legacy.
Which theory do you think characterises current Indian Foreign Policy?

THANK YOU

